

Carlton Sherwood had every right to produce and distribute "Stolen Honor: Wounds That Never Heal." Sinclair Broadcasting, however, does not have the right to force all of its television stations to air it in the weeks before the election. Their doing so is a breach of ethics. The public deserves better than "news" programming that only serves a political vendetta.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
